

List the 10 adjectives and/or verbs for your friends in the table below. Share these with your friend

Be	Gave
Have	Dropped
Ran	Come
Said	See
Make	Get
Be	Gave

List the 10 adjectives and/or verbs given to you to use in the table below.

Beautiful	Head
Look	Ask
Happy	Need
Sweet	Quiet
See	Peaceful

Start your creative writing below. Remember to bold the words given to you from your friend.

Title: The Mystery fruit

One beautiful day I was so happy, on the top of my head, I thought “It’s a really beautiful day, I should probably go to the park”. While I was walking It was so peaceful and quiet. As I arrived at the park it was so peaceful, I could see the birds singing, and kids playing around laughing. When I look at people they seem so happy and overwhelmed. I wanted to play with the other kids and have some fun. As I went towards the ladder the kids all looked at me so happily. They enjoyed the sun so much that they got lots and lots of vitamin D.

As the sun was going down I said silently “I need to grab some groceries for dinner”. I went to the supermarket and bought vegetables, fruits, meat, drinks and bread. I walked back home in the dark starry night. The moon popped up in the sky high, the stars were shining bright. When I went back home I quickly made some nice steak with some vegetables. As I sat on my couch I put on the new.

There was some sort of new fruit in the supermarket I just came from. The news reporter said, “ I don’t know what this mystery fruit is, I have to ask the store owner before anyone can check it out”. It ended up being this fruit with a maroon jelly texture inside with chunks of mango. The outside was shaped like a watermelon and its colour was baby blue. Surprisingly it tasted nice, I was shocked that I ended up buying 20. I finished all the fruit by 10 pm!

The next day I was sick and had a really bad stomach ache. It was so painful it felt like I was about to die. I couldn’t handle the pain, so I immediately went to the doctor. The doctor said that I’m allergic to the mystery fruit and I'm forbidden to eat it.

The End!!